(57) Abstract :

The present invention discloses a budget deviation alert device (100) comprising a budget data module (101), actual expense tracker (102), budget monitoring unit (103), deviation detection module (104), and alert device (105). The device continuously compares departmental expenses against allocated budgets in real time. Upon detecting a deviation beyond predefined thresholds, it instantly triggers alerts through visual, audible, and digital notifications. This system enhances fiscal control, promotes timely managerial intervention, and integrates seamlessly with existing enterprise financial infrastructures.
